Description

MT020013L Montech GT12 Body - MLGT3

Designed, like all the latest Mon-Tech products, with 3D modelling software, it was then checked with fluid dynamics software and made with CNC machines. The company's new industrial way to work allows them to develop highly detailed bodies, to control the airflow and aerodynamic performance, and to respect class rules. The body is produced from a durable 0.75 mm Lexan and is available in a standard and La Leggera lightweight version. The kit includes headlight stickers, window masks and hardware to install the rear wing in two different positions to change the rear downforce.

Supplied clear.
